KALAMAZOO COUNTY GOVERNMENT

In the Pursuit of Extraordinary Governance...

DRAFT

July 23, 2021

Kalamazoo County Board of Commissioners
c/o Tracy Hall, Chairperson

Subject: Economic Development Corporation and Brownfield Redevelopment Authority
Updated Bylaws – Number of Directors

Commissioner Hall,

The Kalamazoo County Brownfield Redevelopment Authority (KCBRA) and the Economic Development Corporation of Kalamazoo County (EDC) have updated the bylaws for their respective boards. The KCBRA and EDC are requesting the approval of the bylaws for both boards by the County Commission.

When the KCBRA was first established, the County Board of Commissioners chose the option of having the EDC board also serve as the BRA board. One significant proposed bylaws change is that the number of members for both the EDC and the KCBRA boards will need to be reduced to nine to comply with information received from Kalamazoo County legal counsel and as required by statute. Currently, there are 10 Directors serving, following the recent resignation of one Director. Kalamazoo County legal counsel has indicated that the number of Directors can be reduced to nine as resignations occur or terms end.

Once the membership of these boards has met the required nine members and going forward, the KCBRA and EDC respectfully request the County Commission continue the practice of appointing one voting member from the Commission to these Boards. While the KCBRA welcomes all commissioners to expand their understanding of brownfield redevelopment, there are significant reasons why the EDC/KCBRA recommends the BOC consider appointing one commissioner liaison as a voting member and appoint any additional members as alternate, non-voting members:

1. The length of the terms of commissioner liaisons may be for shorter periods of time, preventing that member from the full benefits that longer terms allow, including greater understanding of the projects, the process, and the knowledge to provide inputs toward a project's greater success.
2. Appointment of community members with expertise or work history in the environmental sector, economic or community development, the financial sector, construction sector, and law is beneficial to completing and tracking brownfield projects in an accurate and efficient manner.

3. If one-third of the Board consists of Commissioner Liaisons, there is concern by current KCBRA members that, with the service of commissioners on several County advisory boards, achieving a quorum at KCBRA meetings could be impacted. The amount of business that requires consideration by the KCBRA board can be significant and can delay redevelopment projects if quorum is an issue for this public body.

The KCBRA has made significant progress in the past 10 years in the redevelopment of contaminated and blighted properties in Kalamazoo County. The Kalamazoo County Brownfield Program would not be at this successful position today without the critical support and partnership of the County Commission. As required in Michigan Public Act 381, brownfield plans, where the County Brownfield Authority is the lead government agency, require the approval by both the local unit of government where a brownfield project is proposed, and the County Commission, subject to appropriate notifications and a public hearing. The County Commission plays an integral and critical part in the consideration of brownfield plans. The collaboration among the Brownfield Redevelopment Authority, local governmental units, the County Commission, and the private development community is a great example of successful public and private partnerships.

The KCBRA and EDC look forward to continuing this successful partnership with the County Commission. Please contact Ken Peregon at _____ or Andy Wenzel at _____ if you have any questions regarding these bylaws or the recommendation to maintain commissioner liaison appointments to one voting member. Additionally, you can reach Brownfield Redevelopment Coordinator Rachael Grover at ragrov@kalcounty.com.
